

Monitoring Peer Policies (MPP)

Do you know how your peers approach sustainability?

Risk policies and strategic analysis

We track the environmental and social risk (ESR) policies of 20 leading international banks as well as responses to climate change and biodiversity loss. We analyze how institutions handle sensitive areas like oil and gas or human rights, and we also track how they disclose climate commitments, respond to nature-related risks, and address concerns like greenwashing.

More depth, more detail

We dive into the fine print to identify peer patterns and trends, and we give you access to all our comprehensive Excel-based analyses. Each month we convene a call with the MPP Network to go deeper into certain topics and share our research.

One platform. The resources you need and monthly calls to discuss them.

Identify trends; benchmark policies and disclosures

Get insight into your peers' sector and topic ESR policies and climate and nature disclosures. We crunch the data and present it in charts that reveal patterns you can act on.

Overcome resource limitations

Rapidly orient to peers' updated ESR policies and climate and nature reports, without doing a word-by-word comparison yourself. We highlight changes, including what's been added and removed.

Keep up with emerging topics

Access the latest insights at brief monthly calls with our experts and guest speakers. Get timely updates on recent reports, trends, and regulations, in addition to sector and topic analyses.

Energize your conversations

Be ready to share data-driven observations about ESR policies and management, and gain insights into the individual approaches of the leading banks across the world.

Who we are

We help companies navigate ESG risks and regulations through expert research and personalized support.

For more than 25 years our interdisciplinary team has applied its deep expertise in finance, law, human rights, and environmental policy to help clients implement regulations and mitigate risk.
